INVEST IN, OR LAUNCH, A NEW VENTURE IN THE BAHAMAS

The Bahamas bring tourists from the world over. They come for all the expected things like turquoise water, sugar-sand beaches, exotic animals, and friendly locals. But they also come for something a little more practical—the ability to buy land fee-simple, world-renowned tax benefits for home owners, and profitable, year-round rental opportunities.

The Government of The Bahamas is friendly to foreign investment, working with developers to allow resorts and homes on New Providence and Freeport, as well as the out islands. They also promote real estate ownership in their many rental pools. You'll find an environment well-suited to small and large investors alike.
